

609 AT SPECIAL MEETING

The voters of Wilmington, Monday night, rejected a round-school-with-a-wing, turned down a proposal for industrial zoning in North Wilmington by the narrow margin of four votes, accepted Cedar Crest Road under the betterment plan, and told the Board of Water Commissioners to go back for further study, on a proposed well field, adjacent to the ball field in the former town park.

609 voters attended the meeting, the largest number to attend a special town meeting in years.

The meeting was controversial throughout, with the exception of two articles sponsored by the Building Inspector, which were quickly accepted by the town.

Minot Anderson proposed, and the town voted, to describe the limits of land on both sides of Main Street, near and including the DeMoulas Shopping Center, by the streets, rather than by the metes and bounds used by Civil Engineers. The two articles were voted with very little discussion.

The third article in the warrant, for the purchase of land for the proposed Woburn Street school, met with more debate.

In effect the article proposed to buy less land than had a similar action in January, in which swampy land at the foot of Linda Road had been voted to be taken by eminent domain. Selectman John Brooks told the Town Meeting that the Selectmen and Permanent Building Committee estimated that the savings to the town would be approximately $30,000.00 in possible damage claims.

There were many questions as to what would happen if the plans were not completed for a housing development in the rear of the school and the roads which were to take care of the children from Linda and other roads were not completed, but the voters were advised 'Don't look a Gift Horse in the mouth', and the town refused to take any safeguards against any such action.

The town was told that Mr. De-Carolis, the real estate operator who plans to build in back of the school, has purchased the land, and has also purchased a small piece of land leading to Linda Rd. where a connecting roadway will be built.

The vote, after twenty minutes of debate, was 478 for, 5 against.

BEACH TAGS - AT BEACH THIS YEAR

When the Town Beach opens at Silver Lake, on June 10th this year there is to be a change in procedure, concerning the issuance of beach tags.

In past years the Town Clerk has issued the tags, which entitle Wil-

Pedway Voted

Article 10, which had been, the Selectmen explained, numbered wrongly, was taken up and the people voted to accept as a gift a piece of land 50 feet wide and 190 feet long, adjacent to the present end of Marcia Road.

Selectman John Brooks told the Town Meeting that it 'represents the finest building site on the De Carolis property', a remark which led to a contretemps with Larz Neilson, who did not agree.

Brooks told the meeting that DeCarolis would prepare the pedway, and he was asked by Mr. Belbin 'if he doesn't develop where is the pedway going to start?'. Brooks agreed that it would be possible the developer would drop dead tomorrow, but described him as a respectable builder, waiving that if this were to happen 'we are no worse off'.

The School

There was a few moments of delay, before getting down to the school article, when Harold Mc Kelvey moved that the Industrial Article (Article 6) be considered first, but at 9:06 pm the town began consideration of the proposals for the Woburn Street School.

The money asked for, for a conventional 15 room school, by Chairman Bob Michelson of the Permanent Building Committee, was $597,000, instead of the $577,000 originally planned. Michelson told the meeting that this was the result of a meeting with the state School Building Assistance Commission. The building, he said, would cost $384,525.

Michelson told the voters that the actual construction cost of the Boutwell School was $34,000, and spoke of 'continued opposition' (Cont. Pg. 2) mington families to use the beach.

This year, the Planning Board has decided, the issuance of the tags will be at the beach, in charge of Special Officer Fred Bellissimo. Mr. Bellissimo is to be assisted by the Matron at the beach, and all records are to be kept by them.

BIGGEST MEMORIAL DAY PARADE

MEMBERS OF AMERICAN LEGION POST 136 marching through Wilmington Square, this morning, in the Memorial Day Parade.

The Memorial Day Observance and Parade, in Wilmington, this morning, was one of the best in years, both in the number of marchers, and in the quality of the observance.

Led by Commander James Simpson of the DAV, the parade started a few moments after 9:30 am in a column that was over half a mile long.

In addition to the music of the Wonderful High School Band, music was provided this year by the Crusader Bugle and Drum Corps, who presented a smart appearance.

Many US flags were displayed on the route of the march, due to the efforts of the Nee Ellsworth Post VFW, who have had a very successful campaign for the display of flags in Wilmington this year.

There were hundreds of Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls, and two new organizations, the Senior Baton Squad and the Junior Baton Squad of the Reading Police Association. Two Wilmington girls, the Misses Jayne Doucette and Donna O'Brien of Ballardvale Street are members of that organization.

The Wilmington Boy Scouts, in a move that was a surprise to the onlookers 'covered' the Veteran's graves, in Wildwood Cemetery, during the ceremonies there, with every Boy Scout standing at attention. It was a move that brought many favorable comments.

RAMBLING AFTERTHOUGHTS

A curious circumstance of the Special Town Meeting was that more people voted against the "Round School with-a-wing" than voted either for or against the conventional school.

A total of 466 persons voted in the final question for the school, 370 in favor and 96 against. A few moments earlier 479 persons had voted in a question of closing debate. It would seem that quite a few people felt they could not vote for the school, nor against it.

There was little chance that the round-school-with-a-wing proposal would succeed.

Add to those persons who were against round schools, period, those whose sense of esthetic values were fractured by the thought of a rectangle or other shape being added to a circle and the proposal didn't have much chance, even though the cost was $85,000 less.

Mrsrs Hanke and Niles, in presenting the problem as one of economy for the town, were right, but they were foredoomed to defeat by other than a question of economics.

The Selectman who said that the town would "probably" save $30,000 in damages, in the question about land at the foot of Linda Road etc should have checked with the assessors as to the value of the land. He didn't.

There is roughly six or seven acres of land, and what isn't swamp has been turned down more than once by the Planning Board, for real estate purposes. It had no value as such, last January, as no plans had been filed at that time. It had no practical value at that time.

The swamp land would have cost thousands of dollars to reclaim. A builder owns it, and he wasn't interested.

Yet the town "probably" would have had to pay $30,000!

Wilmington has often seen its town officials protect the town (if such is the word) against real estate proposals. This is the first time that the contrary seems to be the case.

The same Selectman, who has a penchant for political hyperbole, described a piece of land as being "the finest building site". He was way off base, and the statement wasn't needed, for the voters had just demonstrated their readiness to vote the article.

That "finest building site" is on the east side of the proposed Marcia Road extension, in an area where the real estate developer had sixty or seventy feet to spare - which he was going to include in one of the lots, as it was not enough to make another lot.

He gladly told the Planning Board to locate a pedway anywhere they chose, as it would be nothing but an asset to him, when he came to sell homes.

The site chosen was by the PBC and it was probably the best from a school viewpoint.

It was a part of the swale leading into the swamp. The better land, high and dry, lay several hundred feet further to the north.

So I said, "Let's cut back on our insurance and save some dough."

SUSIE'S SONNETS

by Sylvia Neilson

ODE TO THE SUGAR DADDIES

There's an adjective which well describes

Sugar's present price.

And the derivation of the word

Is the singular of lice.

The proposal for the industrial development in North Wilmington, was, if we have to say so, slightly bungled. Someone should have been on their feet within seconds of the announcement of the vote, demanding a recount, and probably demanding a secret ballot.

The measure lost by four votes. Had there been a secret ballot it would have won, for many persons (four at least) could not vote for it, in a stand-up-and-be-recognized piece of business.

Little Roly Poly Jim Micili is becoming a favorite of the Town Meeting, for his conduct on the Cedar Crest Road vote. He kept jumping up and down, during the 20 minutes his article was on the floor, and the voters were highly amused at his earnestness. His best move was to limit his ten minutes he was allowed to closing the argument to a total of seven or eight words - the voters appreciated that, at the late hour of just before midnight.

Some other statements made require some correction, just from a statistical viewpoint.

It is to be doubted if there would be danger of typhoid, in the sewerage of the North Wilmington area. Borings have shown the ground to be underlaid with sand, and there should be no drainage problems. Neither would there be any practical problems as far as the Ipswich River is concerned, at least as far as this paper can see.

The party that made the statement that Wilmington Development had paid only $7800 was in one sense correct, for that was the only name he had checked. Other names, for the same property (i.e. Harriman's old tannery site) show more taxes paid, and we judge that the 1962 tax was about $9000.

Selectman Nick De Felice can always be trusted to jump up and defend truck drivers, when there is an aspersion against that profession. He is right too, when he says that they are the safest truck drivers, as he did in the Town Meeting.

The increase in the cost of the conventional school, from $577,000 to $597,000 was not unexpected. There are many who believe it cannot be constructed for the second price.

Time will provide the answer for that one.

TOCCI TO SELL ALDERWOOD ESTATES

Edsel Tocci of Watertown, the developer of Alderwood Estates, between Woburn and West Streets, told the Planning Board, Tuesday night, that he is selling the unfinished portion to the S MacFarland & Sons Inc. Co of Billerica.

Sumner (Sandy) MacFarland, of the purchasing company, was with Mr Tocci.

Tocci told the board he will retain six or seven lots at the West Street end of Kenwood Avenue, the projected road through the real estate development, but that Mr. MacFarland was taking over all the rest.

Mr MacFarland, he said, was planning to build at about the same speed, and about the same style of houses as those already built along Woburn Street.

The board agreed to let the development be divided into three phases, for bonding purposes.

Tocci was forced to sell, he said, because of a heart condition. He had had many offers from large real estate development firms, but had turned them down for Mr MacFarland.

Speaking of the Planning Board Tocci said 'You have always been very fair with me'.

The Planning Board plans to schedule a discussion with the Board of Selectmen, concerning the easement at the Deacon's Curve, on West Street, where a water main was laid, a few years back, and which is intended to eventually become a highway. The Planning Board wants to take steps to speed up the program, if possible.

MOSQUITO SPRAYING PROGRAM IN FULL SWING

The anti-mosquito spraying program of the Tree Department is in full swing. Employees of the Department are spraying all over town, but in local areas, rather than widespread. A mixture of 6% DDT and Mylthine is being used.

The spraying for elm trees, two so far this year, is just about completed.

being tossed at a committee'. The estimates for the school he was proposing, he said, were prepared by a professional estimator who works daily for a construction firm.

Michelson was followed by the Superintendent of Schools, who gave a thorough run-down on the school room situation today, and as it is expected to be in 1964 and 1965.

'We will fill this Woburn Street school with youngsters in 1964' he said, and 'in 1965 we must go to the other end of town - I think instead of a 12 room elementary we must build an Intermediate School in West Wilmington, with a dual function, based on the assumption that the housing starts in Wilmington do not get out of hand.'

Without a school on Woburn Street in 1964, Shea told the meeting, there will be 10 rooms short which will mean double sessions for 4th, 5th and 6th graders, or load up the classes with 44 pupils to a room. He told the meeting that in a talk last Friday with 30 representative mothers he found that they preferred double sessions of 4 hours, to an overloaded classroom.

Shea also spoke of the necessity of keeping up the growing library facilities in the schools, which, he said, would suffer a blow if there were to be an overloading of the school facilities. He told the people too, that the recreation department was not set up to take care of double sessions. 'We are not equipped'.

At 9:40 pm Paul Niles, former secretary of the Permanent Building Committee, offered an amendment to build a round school, with a wing in back, to be fifteen rooms, the cost $511,525.

It was, he said, 'a basic question of philosophy of economy'. The questions he said, could not be met by recriminations, for there is too much money at stake in the continued school building program.

Niles was followed by Hanke, the former Chairman, who said that the rooms would be of adequate size, with terrazzo floors (Cont. Pg. 5).

PLANNING BOARD CHAIRMAN 'WE WERE BUMPS ON LOG'

Discussing the loss of the control of the Town Park, Tuesday night, the Wilmington Planning Board agreed that they had not been vigilant.

The Town Park is now a part of the watershed for the Water Department, and the ballpark is no longer under the control of the Planning Board, by act of the State Legislature.

'We were asleep at the switch - we were just bumps on the log' said Planning Board Chairman Jim Banda.

In lobbies, corridors, kitchens and toilets, and asphalt tile elsewhere, and structural tile in the classrooms.

Bob Barry, one of the newer members of the PBC told the Town

Meeting that the bid for a round 12 room school in Saugus was $489,810 for construction, and a total cost of $624,301.

The amendment lost on voice vote which might have been doubted and the conventional school was voted in, 370 to 96.

The Zoning Fight

The fight over rezoning a portion of North Wilmington for industry began at 10:06 pm when James Mackay moved the article. The Planning Board approved, in an enthusiastic report, read by Bob Evans - 'With extensive railroad frontage, and close access to Route 93'.

George Lingenfelter of Concord Street challenged the legality of the article. The Moderator, and later the Town Counsel ruled that the article was legal.

FORESTRY DEGREES TO ALLARD AND TOWNLEY

Dave J. Townley

The son of Mrs Ivan Townley of Hopkins Street, David is a graduate of the Essex County Agricultural School, Class of 1961.

He has accepted work with the Sierra National Forest, Minavests District, at North Fork, California.

Bobby Allard

Allard is the son of Mr and Mrs Almon Allard of Glen Road (and a brother to Wilmington High School Football star Dickie).

He graduated from Wilmington High School with the Class of 1960, and is to attend is to attend the Industrial Technical School of Boston.

James Costello, of the Wilmington Development Co. Inc. told the meeting that the job would require 200,000 yards of fill, and that, if the property were to be residential it would mean $4,000 a house lot, which would price the homes out of the market. The total income for the 31 acres, he said, was now $514.05 a year, and the return in taxes would increase up to $120,000 a year.

Selectman Rene LaRivee told the town meeting that he felt that people should be considered, as well as industry. He was of the opinion the article had to wait two years, before they could again introduce it.

Julius Gordon described how he was a resident of Wilmington for 36 years, and 'I would be proud to have this type of a development next to my home.'

Harold McKelvey spoke enthusiastically for the article 'If you have any sense you have to count dollars.'

Arthur Smith, Federal Street, spoke against the article, saying that he had asked the assessor how much Wilmington Development paid and had been told in two years it was $7800.

He compared the proposal to Avco, which, he said, was First Class Construction with Known Plans. In this, he said, the proposal was 'Have Faith In Us!'

A former Town Manager, he said had promised sewerage to several industries - and it would cost $500,000 to bring the sewerage to this area -- 'If we pollute Lubbers Brook'.

Smith ended up his arguments that Wilmington should not be a manufacturing town of the type one sees in Chelsea or East Boston.

Frank Vitale spoke up to say he was an employee of Photon, and that 100 to 200 people could have work in this area. 'We are taxpayers'.

Jane Soule, North Street: 'Don't put industry across from schools. I don't think we should lower the tax rate at the expense of killing our children. Middlesex Avenue is narrow!'

Doris Reitchel, Mystic Avenue: Burlington voted out a 64 acre

Industrial Park, in which the firms were named -- the Wilmington Development Company should give us the plans - We shouldn't have this shoved down our throat, until they give us preliminary plans. They owe us the consideration of letting us know what they are putting in.'

Nicholas DeFelice, Selectman: Safest Drivers are Truck Drivers.

George Lingenfelter: Give you the man's side of this - we don't know what industry we are voting for. I bought a new home. I checked, and it was surrounded by Single Residence A (zone). -- They have built three buildings, and I believe the Zoning Laws are a protection of faith - but they had to get a variance. This man is a speculator. He is in there to make money!

Victor Connors, Nickerson Ave.: If this passes you won't get 50¢ next year. The water mains, the sewers - 50% born by town. Actually, this land holds millions of gallons of water, especially in the spring.

At 10:53 there was a motion to close debate. Mr. Mackey turned over the closing argument to Selectman John Brooks, who told the meeting 'not speaking for the proponent - speaking for the town - in favor of this proposal - in favor because of you. It seems to me that it is about time to abandon emotionalism and discuss facts. Are we to abandon our best interests for the benefit of a small group?' He finished his talk at 11:04, and there was a standing vote. The count was 330 in favor, and 171 against. The motion had failed by four votes to achieve the required two thirds majority!

James Micilli moved at 11:12 to have Cedar Crest Road constructed by betterments. There was a long and confused debate, with many persons talking on the floor at one time, leading the moderator to observe that 'this is like a tobacco auction'.

The arguments for were that the town had let a builder build on the street, that a majority of the residents were willing to pay for betterments, and that this was better than letting the town have to pay for all.

Mr. Micilli kept bouncing up, during the arguments, afraid of being overlooked for his closing argument, which he, as the sponsor, was entitled to, and finally the moderator, calling him 'one of my boys' assured him, to the merriment of the town, that he would have his chance. When he finally spoke it was very short and brief, and the town voted in favor, 215 to 28.

Water Commissioner Waldo Stevens moved, at 11:40 pm to have the town construct a main along Main Street, to connect the two ends. In five minutes the town had voted in favor.

Article 9, to construct a pumping station and well field adjacent to the ballpark in the former town park was a different matter.

Stevens told the meeting that the Water Commissioners had sunk 13 test wells, that only one of them gave the required pure water in sufficient volume, 500,000 gallons a day, and that the town needed the water badly 'a valuable resource', 365 days a year, against a limited time for the ballfield.

He regretted that the State Department of Public Health will not let the ballfield be used, but promised that the Water Department would do all in its power 'but we cannot guarantee'.

James Fairweather: 'Its taking our ball field - not many spectators, but lots of people play ball there.'

Nicholas DeFelice: 'Drill another 13 wells - spend another $5000 -- it would cost $40,000 for another ballfield'.

James Woods: 'We have taken care of industry up to now'.

James Banda, Chairman of the Planning Board: 'Losing our only park. The town is in no position to do this. I am not convinced that there is only one site for the well, I feel that further investigation would give up another site if not the Water Department should give us land for another ball field.'

Danny Gillis, Planning Board: 'This thing happened - we had nothing to say, I hope you vote against it - it's 13,000 to 3!'

Charles Burt asked if the Town Manager had an opinion, and Bouchard spoke, for the first time, in a Town Meeting. He smiled, almost wryly, and said it was a concern of both the Planning Board and the Water Commissioners. 'I feel they could get together and have another go'.

Larry Cushing, Physical Education Director: 'From the first of May to September, 5 days a week, baseball is played there. Then there is practice for the Little League, and outings of such organizations as the Campfire Girls, what have you to offer in its place?'

'The well is 50 feet from the outfield - 400 feet distance includes the whole field up to the road and the base of the hill. Does the 400 feet apply to the railroad too?'

'Only have to move the well 200 feet and you won't kill the ball park - I say vote against this, tonight'.

Only 17 voted for the article, the Finance Committee, the Water Commissioners, Selectmen Black and Drew and six others.

The meeting adjourned, in a flurry of excitement seen perhaps only by a few, at 12:10 pm. Arthur Smith, one of the opponents, to the industrial rezoning, got the floor and moved adjournment before one of the proponents could move reconsideration. Mr. Mackey who was in the party moving for reconsideration, was left on the floor, waving a piece of paper as the Moderator declared the meeting over.
